Organization of work

In order to accommodate the suggestions made by delegations, meetings of the session of the Board have been designed so that no two meetings take place at a given time. Establishment of sessional committees

In accordance with rule 62 of its Rules of Procedure, the Board may wish to set up two sessional committees. The proposed allocation of items between the plenary and sessional committees, in accordance with rule 13, is indicated in annex I of this document.

Item 2 Segment for high-level participation: the impact of financial crisis on trade, investment and development: regional perspectives

Paragraph 107(c) of "A Partnership for Growth and Development" states that "in executing its mandated functions, the Trade and Development Board will meet in regular or executive sessions. The regular session of the Board will be convened in one part in autumn for approximately 10 working days. At that session, a segment should be included to deal with a substantive policy item with a view to attracting high-level participation. Personalities from the public, private/business and academic sectors in areas related to UNCTAD's work should be invited to attend".

The third such high-level segment will be held at the forty-fifth session of the Board. The first addressed the topic of "foreign direct investment and development in a globalizing world economy" and was moderated by Mr. Alec Erwin, Minister of Trade and Industry of South Africa. The second addressed the topic of "Globalization, competition, competitiveness and development" and was moderated by Mr Jan Pronk, Minister for Development Cooperation of the Netherlands.

The topic this year will be approached from the perspective of the implications of the current financial crisis for global trade and investment flows, with particular reference to the development prospects of developing countries taking as a point of entry the differential impact on the world's economic regions. The globalization of the world economy has greatly increased the possibility of localized financial upheavals spreading to other countries and regions via trade and investment channels. The transmission mechanisms are complex, and their impact will vary according to the economic sectors concerned. The evidence so far suggests that the most important factor determining the differential impact of a financial crisis is the regional one. The ripple effects will be "mediated" by this factor because regional economic relations offer options for countries potentially affected by the crisis and because regional institutions and arrangements allow for collective policy responses.

A discussion of the impact of financial crisis from a regional perspective could furthermore throw light on the more general issue of the dynamic relations between globalization and regionalism. It can be argued that globalization is increasingly proceeding through the interaction of regional economic areas and groupings, rather than through the atomistic integration of individual national economies into an undifferentiated world economy.

An issues paper will be circulated

Item 3 High-level Mid-term Review

The Midrand Declaration stated that "to build on the political commitment of member States to the process initiated at this Conference and ensure its implementation, the President of UNCTAD IX should consider convening a special high-level review meeting two years prior to UNCTAD X". You will also recall that, in its resolution 52/182 of December 1997, operative paragraph 2, the General Assembly "also reaffirms its political will and responsibility with respect to implementing the agreed commitments reached at the ninth session of the United Nations Conference on Trade and Development, held at Midrand, South Africa, in particular the document entitled "A Partnership for Growth and Development", and, in this regard, welcomes the convening of a special high-level mid-term review meeting in 1998, which will contribute to the preparations for the tenth session of the Conference, to be held in Thailand in 2000.

At its sixteenth executive session on 16 February 1998, the Trade and Development Board launched the mid-term review process. In doing so, the Board mandated the Vice-President of the Board, Ambassador Benjelloun-Touimi (Morocco), to conduct the review. Ambassador Benjelloun reported the outcome of the mid-term review exercise to the eighteenth executive session of the Trade and Development Board on 10 July 1998.

At its eighteenth executive session, the Board approved and adopted the outcome of the mid-term review (TD/B/EX(18)/L.2 and Corr.1), requested member States, the UNCTAD secretariat and relevant organizations to fully implement the recommendations contained therein, and requested the Secretary-General of UNCTAD to proceed immediately with the implementation of those recommendations, to provide regular progress reports at the monthly consultations and to transmit the outcome to the High-level Mid-term Review Meeting.

The High-level Mid-term Review will be chaired by Mr. Alec Erwin, Minister for Trade and Industry of South Africa and it is expected that the discussions will focus on the follow-up to the mid-term review exercise with a view to assessing global developments since Midrand, the expectations over the next two years and the future prospects looking forward to UNCTAD X and beyond. The dialogue should focus on issues that could be addressed at UNCTAD X, particularly with a view to elaborating the agenda of the Conference.

Item 4 Interdependence and global economic issues from a trade and development perspective: the causes, management and prevention of financial crisis

Drawing on the recent East Asian experience, as well as on earlier financial crisis, this item will examine the role of external and domestic factors in creating financial fragility and triggering currency turmoil and external debt crises in developing countries. Attention will be paid not only to macroeconomic fundamentals, including unsustainable exchange rates and current account positions, but also to the role of institutional and regulatory weaknesses in generating excessive credit expansion, bubbles in asset markets, and large build-ups of liquid and short-term external liabilities. Regarding the management of crises, attention will be focused on appropriate national and international policy responses including the institutional framework for debt work-outs, provision of international liquidity, and policy conditionality. The item will also cover other measures needed at the national and global level to reduce the likelihood of such crises and to contain their effects on the real economy.

Trade and Development Report, 1998

Item 5 Review of progress in the implementation of the Programme of Action for the Least Developed Countries for the 1990s:

- (a) Trade and investment in LDCs: opportunities and constraints in the multilateral trading system

- (b) Contribution of the Board to the consideration by the General Assembly, at its fifty-third session, of the date, duration and venue of the Third United Nations Conference on LDCs and its preparatory process

The Programme of Action for the LDCs for the 1990s and General Assembly resolution 45/206 entrusted UNCTAD with the focal role in the review and appraisal of the implementation of the Programme of Action and its follow-up at the global level. "A Partnership for Growth and Development" (TD/377) reaffirmed this mandate and provided in paragraph 107(c) that the Board will review at its annual sessions progress in the implementation of the Programme of Action. For the consideration of agenda item 5(a), the Board will have before it the Least Developed Countries 1998 Report. The main theme of the Report is an analysis of how different aspects of the multilateral trading system affect opportunities and constraints for LDCs in enhancing their participation in the world economy. Part I of the Report, comprising three chapters, will focus on recent economic developments in LDCs, trends in commodity prices of relevance to LDCs, a brief review of developments in the global economy, mobilization of private finance for investment in LDCs, and the special problems facing 10 small island LDCs. Part II of the Report, comprising five chapters, will focus on trade, investment and the multilateral trading system. The Report reviews the implementation of the Uruguay Round Agreements, explores a number of issues relating to trade and environment, examines opportunities for LDCs in trade in services, analyses the potential costs and benefits for LDCs of a possible future MIA and analyses the implications of the proposed WTO financial services agreement for LDCs. The Report identifies areas where specific concessions and provisions in multilateral agreements may be beneficial to LDCs and where technical assistance may be needed to help LDCs integrate into the global economy.

As regards agenda item 5(b), the General Assembly, in its resolution 52/187, decided to convene the Third United Nations Conference on the LDCs in the year 2001. The mandate of the Conference will be as follows: (i) assess the results of the Programme of Action during the 1990s at the country level; (ii) review the implementation of international support measures, particularly in the areas of official development assistance, debt, investment and trade; (iii) consider the formulation and adoption of appropriate national and international policies and measures for sustainable development of the least developed countries and their progressive integration into the world economy. The Assembly also decided to convene an intergovernmental preparatory committee in due time to prepare for the Conference. That meeting would be preceded by three expert-level preparatory meetings.

The Assembly further decided that UNCTAD will be the focal point for the preparation of the Conference. It decided to include in the provisional agenda of its fifty-third session a sub-item entitled "Implementation of the Programme of Action for the Least Developed Countries for the 1990s" and to consider, inter alia, the date, duration and venue of the Conference, its preparatory process and the funding for participation of representatives from each least developed country, both at the preparatory committee meeting and at the Conference itself from extra budgetary resources.

The above General Assembly resolution was based on the recommendations made by the Board at its forty-fourth session (recommendation 442(XLIV)). The Board's consideration of this item could lead to recommendations to facilitate a decision by the General Assembly on the above issues.

Item 6 UNCTAD's contribution to the implementation of the United Nations New Agenda for the Development of Africa in the 1990s: Prospects for agriculture, trade and industrialization

In its agreed conclusions 443(XLIV), the Board agreed that UNCTAD should closely monitor the relationship between debt and the capacity of African countries to generate savings to support investment. It also agreed that UNCTAD should analyse further development and trade-related questions of investment and incentives in the agricultural sector. The Trade and Development Report 1998 devotes its Part II to "African development in a comparative perspective". It will review trends and prospects for economic growth and development in Africa. In the area of agriculture, it will consider the role, structure and performance of agriculture in African economies and will review policies, prices and production in this sector. The report also analyses trade, industry and accumulation and finally will consider policy challenges and institutional reforms. In the light of the above, there will be no separate documentation for the consideration of this item which is amply covered by Part II of the Trade and Development Report.
