I. Substantive preparations for the eleventh session of the Conference

Report of the Preparatory Committee

1. The President of the Board, speaking in his capacity as Chairman of the Preparatory Committee, reported on the work of the Committee and presented the results of that work, namely the draft UNCTAD XI negotiated text (TD(XI)/PC/CRP.7 and Add.1). After hearing reports by the Permanent Representative of India on the chapeau and subthemes 1,2 and 4 and the Permanent Representative of the Philippines on subtheme 3, the Preparatory Committee had approved document TD(XI)/PC/CRP.7, with some amendments, ad referendum. He informed the Board that he would draw the attention of the Committee of the Whole at UNCTAD XI to the concerns of Paraguay, speaking on behalf of the landlocked countries, with regard to paragraph 33 of document TD(XI)/PC/CRP.7. He also requested delegations to give consideration to the question of what the text would be called, for example São Paulo Consensus, São Paulo Agreement or São Paulo Accord.

Action by the Board

2. The Board decided to transmit the draft UNCTAD XI negotiated text (TD(XI)/PC/CRP.7)<sup>1</sup> to the Conference. Concerning the annex on multi-stakeholder partnerships in document TD(XI)/PC/CRP.7/Add.1,<sup>2</sup> the Board requested the secretariat to update the document in consultation with interested delegations, and to submit the final version to the Conference. It also requested the Conference to take note of the multi-stakeholder partnerships launched at the Conference and to decide to annex the corresponding text to the final negotiated text.

3. The Board mandated the President of the Board to use his good offices to try to make further progress on the draft negotiated text before the Conference, to invite all interested parties to participate in the exercise, and to report to the Committee of the Whole at the Conference on progress made.

Statements

4. The representative of Jamaica, speaking on behalf the Group of 77 and China, said that the PrepCom had reason to be quite pleased with its work. Nevertheless, some of the most difficult hurdles still lay ahead, because the outstanding paragraphs dealt with issues that would define the character of the outcome of the Conference for the Group of 77 and China, including policy space, institutional issues, corporate responsibility and governance. The flexibility of his Group had been tested on cross-cutting issues such as globalization and the role of the State, as well as on a large number of specific issues. The matters on which agreement still had to be reached included issues that were of fundamental developmental importance to his Group and that were critical to UNCTAD's institutional role and mandate. The resolution of these issues must be consistent with UNCTAD being able to function independently, effectively, and in a balanced manner across and within all three pillars of its mandate. Any other outcome would not be acceptable. The Group of 77 and China also attached importance to the attachment to the negotiated text of the relevant annexes relating to subtheme IV.

5. Concerning the informal consultations on outstanding issues prior to the Conference, they should be fully transparent, all outstanding issues should be addressed, and any agreements should be reported to UNCTAD XI for consideration by all members.

6. There were two issues that his Group had omitted to raise and which would involve additions to existing paragraphs in order to provide for technical assistance in two areas. They would be tabled at an appropriate time. The Group also intended to pursue the matter of innovative financial mechanisms in the hope of finding acceptable language.

7. The representative of the Islamic Republic of Iran, speaking on behalf of the Asian Group and China, said that the text being transmitted to the Conference was a particularly significant one, since it would determine the direction of UNCTAD's work in the next four years. A multilateral consensus could be achieved only if all major concerns and interests were reflected properly and if all the parties were in a position to offer a certain flexibility on issues and language. The Conference would have to address the remaining important issues, including policy space, governance, UNCTAD's contribution to the UN reform process and the follow-up to major UN conferences, interagency collaboration and coercive unilateral measures. It was hoped that it would be possible to find new elements to shape the document in a way that would reflect a realistic image of the outcomes of globalization and international trade negotiations, whilst also taking into account the development needs of developing countries.

8. The representative of Paraguay, speaking on behalf of the landlocked developing countries, said that the landlocked developing countries were among the poorest countries in the world. The General Assembly had called for the effective implementation of the Almaty Programme of Action: Addressing the Special Needs of Landlocked Developing Countries within a New Global Framework for Transit Transport Cooperation for Landlocked and Transit Developing Countries, and it was important that UNCTAD contribute to that implementation.

9. The representative of Senegal, speaking on behalf of the African Group, said that it would be important to reach agreement on a good paragraph on debt.

10. The representative of Algeria said that the main theme of the Conference should be reflected on the front page of the negotiated text.
