INTRODUCCIÓN

En el apartado c) del párrafo 6 de la sección F del Conjunto de Principios y Normas equitativos convenidos multilateralmente para el control de las prácticas comerciales restrictivas se prevé la compilación de un manual sobre legislación en materia de prácticas comerciales restrictivas.

La Cuarta Conferencia encargada de examinar todos los aspectos del Conjunto de Principios y Normas, celebrada en Ginebra del 25 al 29 de septiembre de 2000, así como el Grupo Intergubernamental de Expertos en Derecho y Política de la Competencia, en su quinto período de sesiones, celebrado en Ginebra del 2 al 4 de julio de 2003, pidieron a la secretaría de la UNCTAD que siguiera publicando nuevos números del Manual de legislación sobre la competencia, inclusive el texto de los instrumentos nacionales e internacionales, que deberían complementarse con un resumen de las principales disposiciones de estos instrumentos sobre la base de las aportaciones que hicieran los Estados miembros (véase la resolución aprobada por la Cuarta Conferencia (TD/RBP/CONF.5/16) y las conclusiones convenidas del Grupo Intergubernamental de Expertos en su quinto período de sesiones (TD/B/COM.2/CLP/L.9)).

En consecuencia, la secretaría ha preparado la presente nota, que contiene comentarios y/o los textos de la legislación sobre la competencia de Burkina Faso y Polonia (nueva ley)¹.

Hasta la fecha, la secretaría de la UNCTAD ha reproducido en sus manuales la legislación sobre la competencia de 48 países, a saber: Alemania, Argelia, Bélgica, Brasil, Bulgaria, Burkina Faso, Canadá, Chile, Colombia, Côte d'Ivoire, Croacia, Dinamarca, Eslovaquia, España, Estados Unidos de América, Finlandia, Francia, Georgia, Hungría, Indonesia, Italia, Jamaica, Japón, Kenya, Lituania, Malawi, Marruecos, México, Noruega, Nueva Zelandia, Pakistán, Polonia, Portugal, Reino Unido de Gran Bretaña e Irlanda del Norte, República Checa, República de Corea, Rumania, Senegal, Sri Lanka, Sudáfrica, Suecia, Tailandia, Túnez, Turquía, Ucrania, Venezuela, Zambia y Zimbabwe.

En su nota de 8 de marzo de 1996, el Secretario General de la UNCTAD pidió a los Estados que todavía no lo hubieran hecho, o que después de su última comunicación hubieran promulgado nuevas leyes o modificado la legislación vigente sobre la competencia, que proporcionaran a la secretaría la legislación, las decisiones judiciales y las observaciones pertinentes ajustándose al esquema indicado (véase la sección siguiente). (Sin embargo, las observaciones no tienen necesariamente que ajustarse al esquema.) Para facilitar la reproducción de los textos de la legislación en más de uno de los idiomas oficiales de las Naciones Unidas, se invitó a los Estados a que, de ser posible, proporcionaran los textos de su legislación en uno o varios de los idiomas oficiales de las Naciones Unidas.

La secretaría de la UNCTAD da las gracias a los Estados que han aportado el material solicitado para la compilación del Manual y pide nuevamente a los Estados que aún no lo hayan hecho que respondan a la petición del Secretario General de la UNCTAD mencionada más arriba.

COMPETITION LEGISLATION

I. BURKINA FASO

Commentary by the Government of Burkina Faso on the modification of the "Loi No 15/94/ADP du 5 mai 1994 portant organisation de la concurrence au Burkina Faso"

Modification de la loi n° 15/94/ADP du 5 mai 1994 portant organisation de la concurrence au Burkina Faso

Le Burkina Faso a adopté une loi sur la concurrence, la loi n° 15/94/ADP du 5 mai 1994 portant organisation de la concurrence au Burkina Faso.

Cette loi comprend deux livres.

Le livre I traite de la liberté des prix et des règles applicables en matière de concurrence et définit les conditions dans lesquelles la concurrence s'exerce. Il contient cinq titres.

Le livre II quant à lui traite des pratiques illicites de la concurrence et de leurs sanctions. Il comprend trois titres consacrés respectivement aux infractions, à leur constatation, aux procédures et peines, et aux dispositions diverses.

Les modifications intervenues dans la loi n° 15 du 5 mai 1994 concernent exclusivement les articles 2 et 3 consacrés à la Commission Nationale de la Concurrence et de la Consommation (CNCC). Ces articles ont été abrogés et remplacés par de nouveaux articles.

Ces changements répondent à un souci maintes fois exprimé par les opérateurs économiques, les consommateurs et l'administration de faire de la CNCC un organe plus opérationnel. Cela a donc entraîné la prise de la loi n° 033-2001/AN du 4 décembre 2001 portant modification de la loi n° 15/94/ADP du 5 mai 1994 portant organisation de la concurrence au Burkina Faso.

1/ Commentaire sur l'abrogation de l'article 2

Les dispositions de l'ancien article 2 stipulaient: « Il est institué une Commission Nationale de la Concurrence et de la Consommation. La Commission Nationale de la Concurrence et de la Consommation est un organe consultatif. »

Autrement dit, la loi en créant la CNCC en tant que organe purement consultatif à limité son champ d'action à une double mission à savoir :

- émettre des avis à la requête de l'administration sur les questions de concurrence, d'où son rôle de conseil juridique au profit de l'administration.

- jouer un rôle d'observatoire chargé du bon fonctionnement des règles de la concurrence dans l'économie et de la protection des consommateurs. C'est à ce titre qu'elle élabore un rapport annuel sur l'état de la concurrence et de la consommation au Burkina Faso.

A l'analyse, ces dispositions ont réduit l'efficacité de la CNCC dans la mesure où elle ne pouvait garantir une saine concurrence entre les opérateurs économiques ou intervenir directement dans la vie économique.

Les nouvelles dispositions de l'article 2 stipulent. « Il est institué une Commission Nationale de la Concurrence et de la Consommation chargée de la régulation de la concurrence et de la consommation ».

Ainsi d'un simple organe consultatif, la CNCC devient dès lors un organe de régulation de la concurrence. Autrement dit, elle acquiert, en plus de ses anciennes prérogatives, le pouvoir coercitif, de sanction vis à vis des contrevenants aux règles de la concurrence et de la consommation.

2/ Commentaire sur l'abrogation de l'article 3

L'article 3 disposait : «la Commission Nationale de la Concurrence et de la Consommation est saisie à l'initiative de l'administration

- Sur toutes les questions concernant la concurrence et la consommation notamment les textes pris en application de la présente loi.
- Sur les pratiques anticoncurrentielles et restrictives de la concurrence relevées dans les affaires dont les juridictions compétentes sont saisies.
- Sur les faits qui lui paraissent susceptibles d'infractions au sens de la présente loi.»

Ainsi cet article limitait la possibilité de saisine de la Commission à l'administration seule, l'autorité compétente étant le ministre chargé du commerce. Evidemment, cela n'était pas de nature à inciter les opérateurs économiques et les associations de consommateurs à requérir les avis de la Commission.

Cet article sera donc remplacé par de nouveaux articles à savoir les articles 3, 3 bis et 3 ter. Les dispositions de l'article 3 nouveau stipulent :

«La Commission Nationale de la Concurrence et de la Consommation est saisie à l'initiative de l'administration, des associations de consommateurs légalement reconnues et des opérateurs économiques ou leurs groupements professionnels pour donner son avis sur les faits susceptibles d'infractions au sens de la présente loi.

La Commission Nationale de la Concurrence et de la Consommation peut se saisir d'office».

Dorénavant, le pouvoir de saisine de la Commission est élargi outre l'administration, aux opérateurs économiques et aux groupements professionnels, aux associations de consommateurs légalement reconnues et à la Commission elle-même.

L'article 3 bis dispose : «La Commission Nationale de la Concurrence et de la Consommation peut après avoir entendu toutes les parties intéressées, au besoin contradictoirement, ordonner qu'il soit mis fin aux pratiques incriminées au chapitre I du livre II de la présente loi, dans un délai déterminé ou imposer des conditions particulières. Elle peut infliger une sanction pécuniaire applicable soit immédiatement, soit en cas d'inexécution d'une injonction. Le montant maximum de la sanction est pour une entreprise de 1 % du chiffre d'affaires hors taxes réalisé au Burkina Faso au cours du dernier exercice clos et dans les autres cas de 2 000 000 de F CFA. La Commission peut en outre, ordonner la publication de sa décision dans les journaux qu'elle indique, aux frais du contrevenant».

Ainsi, cet article autorise la Commission à prononcer des injonctions et des sanctions pécuniaires vis à vis des contrevenants aux dispositions de la loi portant organisation de la concurrence au Burkina Faso.

Quant à l'article 3 ter, il dispose : «les décisions de la Commission Nationale de la Concurrence et de la Consommation sont notifiées aux parties en cause et à l'administration compétente qui peuvent dans un délai de 6 jours à compter de la date de notification, interjeter appel devant la Chambre Commerciale de la Cour d'Appel. Cet appel n'est pas suspensif».

Cette disposition de l'article 3 ter instaure le contrôle judiciaire des sanctions prononcées par la Commission. En effet, le contrevenant a la possibilité de faire appel devant la Chambre Commerciale de la Cour d'Appel de Ouagadougou s'il n'est pas satisfait des décisions de la Commission.

Ainsi, les modifications de la loi sur la concurrence du Burkina Faso ont consisté à donner plus d'attributions à la Commission Nationale de la Concurrence et de la Consommation en lui conférant en plus de son pouvoir consultatif un pouvoir de sanction tout en élargissant son mode de saisine aux associations de consommateurs légalement reconnues, aux opérateurs économiques ou leurs groupements professionnels et à la Commission elle même.

LOI NO 15/94/ADP DU 5 MAI 1994 PORTANT ORGANISATION DE LA CONCURRENCE AU BURKINA FASO

L'ASSEMBLEE DES DEPUTES DU PEUPLE

Vu la Constitution,

Vu la Résolution n° 01/92/ADP du 17 juin 1992, portant validation du mandat des Députés

A délibéré en sa séance du 5 mai 1994 et adopté la Loi dont la teneur suit :

LIVRE I

DE LA LIBERTE DES PRIX ET DES REGLES APPLICABLES EN MATIERE DE CONCURRENCE

TITRE I

DE LA LIBERTE DES PRIX

Article 1^{er} : Les prix des produits, des biens et des services sont libres sur toute l'étendue du territoire et déterminés par le seul jeu de la concurrence.

Toutefois, dans les secteurs d'activité économique ou dans les localités du territoire où la concurrence par les prix est limitée en raison soit de situation de monopole ou de difficultés durables d'approvisionnement, soit de dispositions législatives ou réglementaires, le Ministre chargé du commerce peut réglementer les prix dans des conditions fixées par décret.

Les dispositions ci-dessus ne font pas obstacle à ce que sur décision du conseil des Ministres, le Ministre chargé du commerce adopte des mesures temporaires contre des hausses excessives de prix, lorsqu'une situation de crise, des circonstances exceptionnelles ou une situation anormale du marché dans un secteur économique donné les rendent nécessaires. Il en précise la durée de validité qui ne saurait excéder six (6) mois.

TITRE II

DE LA COMMISSION NATIONALE DE LA CONCURRENCE ET DE LA CONSOMMATION

Article 2 : Il est institué une Commission Nationale de la Concurrence et de la Consommation

La Commission Nationale de la Concurrence et de la Consommation est un organe consultatif.

Article 3 : La Commission Nationale de la Concurrence et de la Consommation est saisie à l'initiative de l'administration pour les questions suivantes :

- Sur toutes les questions concernant la concurrence et la consommation notamment les textes pris en application de la présente loi;

- Sur les pratiques anticoncurrentielles et restrictives de la concurrence relevées dans les affaires dont les juridictions compétentes sont saisies;
- Sur les faits qui lui paraissent susceptibles d'infractions au sens de la présente loi.

Article 4 : La composition et les règles de fonctionnement de la Commission Nationale de la Concurrence et de la Consommation sont déterminées par décret.

TITRE III

DES ENTENTES ET DES ABUS DE DOMINATION

Article 5 : Toutes formes d'actions concertées, de conventions, d'ententes expresses ou tacites ou de coalitions ayant pour objet ou pouvant avoir pour effet d'empêcher, de restreindre ou de fausser le jeu de la concurrence sur un marché, sont prohibées, notamment lorsqu'elles tendent à :

1. limiter l'accès au marché ou le libre exercice de la concurrence par d'autres entreprises;
2. faire obstacle à la fixation des prix par le libre jeu du marché en favorisant artificiellement leur hausse ou leur baisse;
3. limiter ou contrôler la production, les débouchés, les investissements ou le progrès technique;
4. répartir le marché ou les sources d'approvisionnement.

Article 6 : Est prohibée dans les mêmes conditions que celles visées à l'article 5 ci-dessus, l'exploitation abusive par une entreprise ou groupe d'entreprises :

1. d'une position dominante sur le marché intérieur ou une part substantielle de celui-ci;
2. de l'état de dépendance économique dans lequel se trouve à son égard, une entreprise cliente ou fournisseur qui ne dispose pas de solution équivalente.

Ces abus peuvent notamment consister en des refus de vente, en des ventes liées, en des conditions de vente discriminatoires ou en des pratiques de prix imposé ainsi que dans la rupture injustifiée de relations commerciales.

Article 7 : Est nul de plein droit tout engagement, convention ou clause contractuelle se rapportant à une pratique prohibée par les articles 5 et 6 ci-dessus :

Article 8 : Ne sont pas soumises aux dispositions des article 5 et 6 ci-dessus les pratiques:

1. qui résultent de l'application d'un texte législatif ou d'un texte réglementaire pris après consultation de la Commission Nationale de la Concurrence et de la Consommation.
2. dont les auteurs peuvent justifier qu'elles ont pour effet d'assurer un progrès économique et qu'elles réservent aux utilisateurs une partie équitable du profit qui en résulte, sans donner aux entreprises intéressées la possibilité d'éliminer la concurrence pour une partie substantielle des produits en cause. Ces pratiques ne doivent imposer des restrictions à la concurrence que dans la mesure où elles sont indispensables pour atteindre cet objectif de progrès.

TITRE IV
DE LA TRANSPARENCE DU MARCHÉ ET DES PRATIQUES
RESTRICTIVES DE LA CONCURRENCE

CHAPITRE I : DES PRIX IMPOSÉS

Article 9 : Est interdite toute forme de pratique de prix imposé. La marge ou le prix de revente d'un bien, d'un produit, d'une prestation de service est présumé imposé dès lors qu'il lui est conféré un caractère minimal ou maximal.

CHAPITRE VI : DES PRATIQUES DISCRIMINATOIRES ENTRE PROFESSIONNELS

Article 15 : Il est interdit à tout producteur, industriel, commerçant ou artisan :

1. de pratiquer à l'égard d'un partenaire économique ou d'obtenir de lui des prix, des délais de paiement, des conditions de vente ou d'achat discriminatoires et non justifiés par des contreparties réelles, en créant de ce fait pour ce partenaire un désavantage ou un avantage dans la concurrence;
2. de refuser de satisfaire aux demandes des acheteurs de produits ou de biens ou aux demandes de prestation de service lorsque ces demandes ne présentent aucun caractère anormal, qu'elles sont faites de bonne foi et que le refus n'est pas justifié par les dispositions de l'article 8 ci-dessus;

la demande d'un acheteur est présumée présenter un caractère anormal au sens de l'alinéa précédent lorsqu'il est notamment établi que ce dernier procède à une des pratiques déloyales visées par les articles 9,10 et 15 de la présente loi;

3. de subordonner la vente d'un produit ou la prestation d'un service soit à l'achat d'une quantité imposée d'autres produits, soit à la prestation d'un autre service sous réserve que cette vente ne soit soumise à une réglementation spéciale.

CHAPITRE VII : DES VENTES SAUVAGES ET DU PARACOMMERCIALISME

Article 16 : Il est interdit à toute personne d'offrir des produits à la vente ou de proposer des services en occupant, dans des conditions irrégulières le domaine public de l'Etat ou des collectivités locales.

Article 17 : Tout vendeur de produit, tout prestataire de service doit par voie de marquage d'étiquetage, d'affichage ou par tout autre procédé approprié informer le consommateur sur les prix, les limitations éventuelles de la responsabilité contractuelle et les conditions particulières de la vente, selon des modalités et conditions fixées par voie réglementaire.

Article 18 : Dans la désignation, l'offre, la présentation, le mode d'emploi ou d'utilisation, l'étendue et les conditions de garantie d'un bien ou d'un service, ainsi que dans les factures et quittances, l'emploi de la langue officielle est obligatoire. Le recours à tout autre terme ou expression nationale équivalente est autorisé.

Ils ont également la possibilité d'ordonner la diffusion de mises en garde ou de précautions d'emploi ainsi que la reprise en vue d'un échange ou d'une modification ou d'un remboursement total ou partiel.

Ils peuvent dans les mêmes conditions, suspendre par arrêté la prestation d'un service.

Ces produits et ces services peuvent être remis sur le marché lorsqu'ils ont été reconnus conformes à la réglementation en vigueur.

Le Ministre chargé du commerce et ou les Ministres intéressés entendent les professionnels concernés au plus tard dans les quinze (15) jours qui suivent la décision de suspension.

Article 32 : En cas de danger grave ou immédiat, l'administration compétente prend les mesures d'urgence qui s'imposent. Elle en réfère aussitôt au ministre intéressé et au ministre chargé du commerce, qui se prononcent, par arrêté, dans un délai de quinze (15) jours. Elle peut dans l'attente de la décision ministérielle, faire procéder à la consignation des produits susceptibles de présenter un danger pour la santé ou la sécurité des personnes. Les produits consignés sont laissés à la garde de leur détenteur après inventaire. Elle peut, dans les mêmes conditions, suspendre la prestation d'un service.

Article 33 : Le Ministre chargé du commerce ou le ou les Ministres intéressés peuvent adresser aux fabricants, importateurs, distributeurs ou prestataires de services, des mises en garde et leur demander de mettre les produits et services qu'ils offrent au public en conformité avec les règles de sécurité.

Lorsqu'un produit ou service n'a pas été soumis au contrôle prescrit en application du présent article, il est réputé ne pas répondre aux exigences de l'article 29 ci-dessus, sauf si la preuve contraire en est rapportée.

Article 34 : Les mesures prévues au présent chapitre ne peuvent être prises pour les produits et service soumis à des dispositions législatives particulières ou à des règlements spécifiques ayant pour objet la protection de la santé ou la sécurité des consommateurs, sauf en cas d'urgence, celles prévues aux articles 31 et 32 ci-dessus.

Lorsqu'elles sont prises en vertu du présent chapitre, ces mesures doivent être proportionnées au danger présenté par les produits et les services; elles ne peuvent avoir pour but que de prévenir ou de faire cesser le danger en vue de garantir la sécurité à laquelle on peut légitimement s'attendre.

II. POLAND

Commentary of the Government of Poland on the Polish Competition Legislation

A. Description of the reasons for the introduction of the legislation.

The end of the 1980s marked the fall of the communism and put an end to centrally planned economies in a number of central European countries; it also heralded the beginning of the transformation process.

In 1990, Poland adopted the so-called “Balcerowicz Plan”, which contained a range of measures aimed at the rapid transformation of the Polish economy into a system based on the principle of free and competitive market.

From the very beginning of the transformation period, the implementation of sound and fully enforceable competition policy was perceived as an indispensable step on the road to a free and competitive markets.

Apart from the principles of the “Balcerowicz Plan”, the introduction of the competition policy in Poland was also one of the several steps taking place in the broader context of the gradual liberalization of the Polish economy, which was also launched in the early 1980s. Before 1990, the liberalization process was very mild and affected only the chosen sectors (i.e. internal trade, food services, tourist services and crafts).

The successful introduction of a competition policy into the Polish economic life would not be possible without a sound and enforceable competition law.

The Law on Counteracting Monopolistic Practices in National Economy was adopted on 28 January 1987. This Act was an interim solution as it did not cover every aspect of competition policy — its main focus was rather on anti-competitive practices. Simultaneously, drafting began of the new fully-fledged competition law has begun.

A new competition law was introduced in 1990.² To a large extent, the 1990 Act followed standard European competition concepts, as it covered the three main areas of competition policy: i.e. anti-competitive agreements; abuse of dominant position; and control of concentrations. However, it included some features which were designed to address Poland’s specific needs stemming from the transformation process.

The 1990 Act served as the backbone of Polish competition policy in the decade that followed. However, in 1998 work began on a new competition act as Poland began to prepare to accede to the EU — a development that made it necessary to align Polish law with the acquis communautaire, as well to respond to changes occurring in a maturing Polish economy. The new Act on Competition and Consumer Protection was adopted by the Polish Parliament on 15

² Act of February 24, 1990, on Counteracting Monopolistic Practices and Protection of Consumers’ Interests (‘1990 Act’).

December 2000 ('2000 Act'); this Act now provides the legal framework for the enforcement of the Polish competition policy.

B. Description of the objectives of the legislation and the extent to which they have evolved since the introduction of the original legislation.

The ultimate goal of Polish competition policy is “to provide for the conditions necessary for the development of unrestrained, competitive and equal relationships among the economic actors”.³ This objective needed to be pursued “as free and unrestrained competition is one of the indispensable pillars of every economic system based on principle of free market and high economic effectiveness”.⁴

Poland's competition policy was aimed at:

- reinforcing competition in structurally uncompetitive sectors;
- supervising the concentration level of the Polish economy;
- strengthening the role of competition in Polish economic life;
- limiting economic distortions caused by state aid; and
- promoting the rules for fair competition, as well as the economic freedom of choice among Polish market players.

In Poland, this policy was closely linked to the country's consumer protection policy, as both of them fall within the jurisdiction of the Office for Competition and Consumers' Protection (OCCP), thereby combining the economic nature of the competition act with some of the social goals of the consumers' protection policy, for example:

- improving consumer health and economic security;
- expanding consumer choice;
- dealing with the social costs of consumption, i.e. the externalities of the market process.

In conclusion, the general rationale behind the situation depicted above is the OCCP's recognition of the long-term consistency between competition policy goals and the protecting the interests of consumers.

Two distinct levels have evolved with regard to the objectives set in Polish competition law.

Throughout the 1990s the responsibilities of the OCCP were broadened on a regular basis; the most important change occurred in 1996 when it was given the responsibility for consumer protection policy and, in 2000, broader powers in the area of state aid surveillance. One of the side-effects of this process was the need to align competition policy objectives with the newly incorporated objectives.

The second driving force behind these changes in Poland's competition policies was the economic transition was experiencing. At the beginning of the 1990s, the overwhelming majority of OCCP's actions dealt with the control of concentration and privatization issues. Later on, as Polish markets liberalized and the economy as a whole gradually matured, the competition law objectives evolved in order to keep up with the new developments.

C. Description of the practices, acts or behaviour subject to control, indicating for each:

- (a) The type of control – for example, outright prohibition, prohibition in principle or examination on a case-by-case basis;

Generally speaking, there are three kinds economic activities which fall within the scope of Polish competition law, these are:

Anti-competitive practices (with the exception of the abuse of dominant position)

In Polish jurisdiction anti-competitive practices are prohibited in principle.

By virtue of 2000 Act all “agreements, which have as their object or effect elimination, restriction or any other infringement of competition on the relevant market shall be prohibited”.⁵ The Act in question specifies what is covered by the term “agreement”, namely:

- agreements concluded between entrepreneurs, between their associations or certain provisions of such agreements;
- concerted practices undertaken in any form by two or more entrepreneurs or their associations;
- resolutions or other acts of the associations of entrepreneurs or their statutory organs.⁶

The same law states that all such agreements shall be made “in their entirety or in the respective part null and void”.⁷

⁵ Article 5.1 (if not stated otherwise all articles refer to the currently binding 2000 Act).

⁶ Article 4.4.

⁷ Article 5.2.

However, the above prohibition does not refer to agreements of minor importance⁸ e.g., horizontal agreements in which the combined market share of the parties does not exceed 5% and vertical agreements where combined market share does not exceed 10%).⁹

In addition to the above de minimis rule, the 2000 Act provides the Council of Ministers with the right to block exempt certain categories of practices whenever they “contribute to improvement of the production, distribution of products or to technical or economic progress and ensure to the buyer or user fair share of benefits resulting thereof.”¹⁰

Furthermore, the above practices may not “impose upon the entrepreneurs concerned, restrictions which are not indispensable to the achievement of these objectives”.¹¹ Likewise, they may not “afford these entrepreneurs the possibility to eliminate competition on the relevant market in respect of a substantial part of the products in question.”¹²

"Block-exempted" agreements fall into five categories, namely:¹³

- technology transfer agreements;
- vertical agreements;
- R&D agreements;
- specialization agreements;
- insurance sector agreements; and
- automotive sector agreements.

The President of the OCCP may also issue a decision exempting a specific practice not covered by any existing block-exemption regulations, although the practice must fulfill the same criteria as practices exempted by the regulations.¹⁴

Concentration Control

The control of concentration also falls into the category of behaviours which are prohibited in principle.

⁸ Article 6.1.

⁹ The market share is calculated, based on the year preceding the calendar year in which such agreement is concluded.

¹⁰ Article 7.1.

¹¹ Article 7.1.1.

¹² Article 7.1.2.

¹³ For the detailed list of block exemption regulations issued by the Council of Ministers, please refer to the bibliography listed in section H (a).

¹⁴ Article 11.2.

Article 19.1 of the 2000 Act states that the President of the OCCP “shall prohibit, by way of a decision, to perform the concentration which results in creation or strengthening of a dominant position, in consequence of which the competition on the market would be significantly restricted”.

Anti-competitive concentration may however be allowed, whenever it “contributes to the economic development or technical progress” or “it may have a favourable impact on the national economy.”¹⁵

This prohibition only covers a small fraction of all the concentration agreements which are concluded each year in Poland. This is due to the notification procedure, which sets clear the criteria of the obligation to notify the intended concentration to the OCCP. Only those concentrations are notified which might threaten competition on their relevant markets.

The concentration agreement shall be notified whenever “the combined turnover of the entrepreneurs participating in the concentration exceeds 50 million EURO in the fiscal year preceding the year of the notification.”¹⁶ In that case, however, agreement may still be excluded from notification obligation:

- if in case of acquisition the turnover of the passive party did not exceed 10 million EURO within the territory of the Republic of Poland during any of two fiscal years preceding the notification; or
- if the combined market share of entrepreneurs intending to concentrate does not exceed 20%; or
- if the temporary acquisition has been carried out by the financial institution within the framework of its normal activities (i.e. investing in stocks and shares on its own account or on the account of the others), with a purpose of reselling the acquired assets¹⁷; or
- if the temporary acquisition has been carried out by the entrepreneur in order to secure the liabilities (though the entrepreneur may not execute any rights on the acquired stock bar the right to sale); or
- if the acquisition has been carried out as a result of the bankruptcy proceeding (the buyer of the firm may not however be its competitor nor belong to the competing capital group); or
- if the merger occurs within a single capital group.¹⁸

¹⁵ Article 19.2.

¹⁶ Article 12.1.

¹⁷ In such cases, however, the resale must occur within one year of the purchase date, at which time the asset holder may not execute any rights on possessed stock other than those necessary for facilitating the resale.

¹⁸ Enumeration based on Articles 13.1 – 13.6.

Abuse of dominant position

Polish competition law explicitly forbids any form of anti-competitive behaviour by market player holding a dominant position. Article 8.1 states that: “the abuse of a dominant position on the relevant market by one or more entrepreneurs shall be prohibited.”

Moreover, by virtue of the Article 8.3, any “legal actions, which constitute abuse of a dominant position shall be in their entirety or in the respective part null and void”.

Case-by-Case approach

Under Polish legislation, a case-by-case approach does not qualify as an independent type of control. However it does play a very important role as it is employed for all the proceedings carried out by the OCCP in cases of prohibition in principle and outright prohibition.

- (b) The extent to which practices, acts or behaviours in section D, paragraphs 3 and 4, of the "Set of Principles and Rules" are covered by this control, as well as any additional practices, acts or behaviour that may be covered, including those covered by controls relating specifically to consumer protection, for example controls concerning misleading advertising.

Technically speaking, none of the practices enumerated in Section D, paragraphs 3 and 4 of the “Set of Rules and Principles” are excluded from the scope of Poland's competition law. This is explained by the fact that the 2000 Act establishes an open catalogue of anti-competitive practices, which is constantly expanded through the outcomes of OCCP’s investigations.

However, the geographic scope of Polish competition law is limited only to the territory of the Republic of Poland. Therefore, the 2000 Act does not provide any grounds for special consideration in regard of “adverse effects”, that the scrutinized practice might have on “international trade particularly that of the developing countries and on economic development of these countries”, as described in UNCTAD’s Set of Principles and Rules on Competition (Section D, § 3 and 4).

In conclusion, the practices in question are fully covered by Polish competition law whenever they affect Polish territory.

The additional practices mentioned in the second part of the question are regulated by the Act of 16 April 1993, on Combating Unfair Competition (1993 Act), which states that “all actions of the entrepreneur contrary to the existing law, violating at same time the interests of other entrepreneurs or consumers are to be considered as unfair competition”. The law in question, inter alia, forbids the following types of practices:¹⁹

- false or incorrect enterprise naming;
- false or incorrect indications on a product’s place of origin;
- false or incorrect product branding;
- abuse of enterprise business confidential information;

¹⁹ Article 3.2.

- production and distribution of copy-cat products;
- limiting the access of third parties to the market;
- bribing public servants;
- misleading advertising; and
- coercing third parties into terminating a contract.

The above list enumerates only those practices applying to whole economy, but the 1993 Act also prohibits a number of sector-specific practices.

D. Description of the scope of application of the legislation, indicating:

- (a) Whether it is applicable to all transactions in goods and services and, if not, which transactions are excluded;

Polish Competition Law does not make any distinction between transactions in goods and transactions in services.

As for exclusions, three types provided in Article 3 and 6 of 2000 Act, e.g.:

Exclusions allowed by virtue of separate acts

So far, the only areas of Polish economic activities excluded by virtue of the separate acts is the state lottery and certain areas of agricultural production.

In addition to the ongoing liberalization process temporary exclusions have been established in a certain sectors such as telecommunications, the postal sector, the railways, and air transportation. Most of these exclusions are in the process of being phased out or will be phased out in the near future.

Exclusions based on collective labour agreements

Exclusions based on collective labour agreements have been introduced as a protective measure to cushion the negative impact that liberalization might have on the employment situation in certain sectors.

Exclusions of agreements of minor importance²⁰

An example of this type of exemption is to be found above in section C (a).

- (b) Whether it applies to all practices, acts or behaviour having effects on the country in questions, irrespective of where they occur;

As it has been already stated in section C (b), Polish competition law applies to all: “competition-restrictive practices and anti-competitive concentrations of entrepreneurs and associations thereof, where such practices or concentrations cause or may cause effects on the territory of the Republic of Poland."²¹

(c) Whether it is dependent on the existence of an agreement, or on such agreement being put into effect.

Under Polish competition law the sole existence of an anti-competitive agreement — even if it not put into practice — is a breach of the law and provides the OCCP with necessary legal grounds to take punitive action.

E. Description of the enforcement machinery (administrative and/or judicial), indicating any notification and registration agreements, and principal powers of the body or bodies involved.

Polish law designates two institutions as competition policy enforcers, they are the Office for Competition and Consumers Protection and the Court for Competition and Consumers' Protection.

Office for Competition and Consumers' Protection (administrative body)

The OCCP forms a part of central public administration. It is headed by a President who is chosen by an independent panel of experts. The President is nominated by the Prime Minister for the period of five years and reports directly to him. The President is the principal decision maker and the OCCP plays a supportive role. The Act in 2000 gives the President to power to:

- enforce Polish competition law;
- monitor concentration level of the Polish economy;
- design or provide advice on any legal acts which even partially fall into the scope of the competition policy;
 - prepare governmental programmes on the development of competition policy;
 - ex-ante advisory capacity regarding any anti-dumping measures undertaken by the Ministry of Economy;
 - cooperation with foreign and domestic institutions in the area of competition protection.

The OCCP has nine regional branches in addition to its headquarters in Warsaw. OCCP Directors are empowered to launch investigations and issue decisions on behalf of its President.

Investigations are held in two stages, namely an explanatory investigation and anti-monopoly investigation.²² The latter is usually launched once it has been established that an infringement has been determined at the explanatory investigation stage (except in the case of concentration cases).²³

²¹ Article 1.2.

²² Article 42.1.

²³ Article 42.2-42.3.

The explanatory investigation can be launched only on an ex-officio basis and “should last no longer than 30 days from its institution.”²⁴ The anti-monopoly investigation may be launched ex-officio or upon the complaint. Proceedings may last no longer than two months in concentration cases, and cannot exceed four months in antitrust cases. During both types of investigations OCCP's President may:

- request information from the legal or natural persons;²⁵
- hear witnesses;²⁶
- carry out the on-spot inspections (including dawn raids);²⁷
- request information from public administration bodies.²⁸

Upon completion of the anti-monopoly investigation the President takes a decision and can, if necessary impose a fine, which can be appealed by the parties to the Court for Competition and Consumers' Protection within 14 days from the date of receiving the President's decision.²⁹

Court for Competition and Consumers' Protection (judicial body)

The Polish Competition and Consumers' Protection Court has been carved out from the general judiciary in 1990. The Court carries out two tasks.

Firstly, it acts as Court of First Instance and hears the appeals of decisions taken by the President of the OCCP. This court can confirm the President's decision or overrule it entirely or in part. If the court overrules a decision, it can issue a decision of its own, reviewing not only the evidence examined by the OCCP, but also other evidence presented directly to the court.

Secondly, by giving interpretations of law, it plays very important role as a policy maker in the field of competition.

Importantly, in order to ensure a consistent application of policy, the Competition and Consumers Protection Court has the power to hear appeals from sectoral regulators.³⁰ The Court's rulings might be appealed only to the Supreme Court.

²⁶ Article 56.

²⁷ Articles 57-61.

²⁸ Article 64.

²⁹ Article 78.

³⁰ Energy Regulatory Authority, Regulatory Authority for Telecommunications and Post.

The appeal system was modified at the end of 2003 in fulfillment of the Constitutional Tribunal's judgment. According to the judgment the appeal to the court of second instance will be made possible so that appeals from the judgments of Competition and Consumers' Protection Court will be heard by the Appeal Court, and appeals (i.e. cassation) from the Appeal Court will be heard by the Supreme Court.

This modification will align the appeals system in competition cases with the general appeals system prescribed in other civil cases — Polish civil procedure has a three-tiered instance system, two instances being appeal instances.

F. Description of any parallel or supplementary legislation, including treaties or understandings with other countries, involving cooperation or procedures for resolving disputes in the area of restrictive business practices.

Until 2004, Poland has not signed any foreign cooperation agreements with binding effect on the core competition policy enforcement.³¹

There are, however, three pieces of parallel legislation (below), which have fostered OCCP's inter-institutional cooperation:

- Act of 10 April 1997 on Energy Law;
- Act of 21 July 2000 on Telecommunications Law;
- Act of 27 June 1997 on Railroad Transportation.

The above Acts established sectoral regulators³² with whom OCCP cooperates to ensure a constant presence of competition policy principles in regulatory policies, as well as to maintain overall coherence in enforcement of the Polish competition law.

Poland became a member of the European Union in May 2004. This meant that OCCP acquired the status of a fully-fledged member of the European Competition Network (ECN), thereby accepting the obligation to fully cooperate with other members of this body. As an ECN member OCCP is, in certain situations, obliged to apply EU competition law into its proceedings.

G. Description of a major decisions taken by the administrative and/or judicial bodies, and the specific issues covered

Legal Services Sector

The case against the Polish National Notary Council (PNNC) was initiated ex officio. The PNNC was charged with anti-competitive practices. The complaint of unfair competition concerned an amendment to the PNNC Code of Ethics to tempt consumers with lower prices. Under Polish law, a notary does not have the right to charge fees above the amounts set by the Ministry of ³¹ All existing cooperation agreements though very useful do not provide grounds for a legal cooperation.

³² In case of railroad transportation the regulatory competences rest with the Ministry of infrastructure, though the separate regulator is to be created in the nearby future.

Justice. In practice, however, the amendment to the PNNC Code of Ethics also prohibited charging fees below the level set by the Ministry of Justice.

In response to the charges of the OCCP, PNNC issued a statement saying that the sole reason behind the amendment was to restrain unfair advertisements. On 20 May 2002 the OCCP's President imposed a fine of 36,000 PLN (EUR 8,381) on the PNNC. The PNNC has appealed the OCCP's decision to the Competition and Consumers Protection Court, but it has yet to render a judgment on this case.

Gas Distribution Sector

One of the most significant cases heard by the President of the OCCP in 2002 related to a case in the gas distribution sector. On 3 April 2001, Bartimpex filed a complaint against the Polish Oil and Gas Mining Company (PGNiG). The President of the OCCP opened a case against PGNiG to investigate a case of suspected abuse of dominant position.

Bartimpex SA is a major Polish gas trader and recently entered into an agreement with German Ruhrgas Energie Beteiligungs (Ruhrgas) and PGNiG to build a pipeline going across Poland and linking the western European and Russian gas distribution systems.

All three firms signed a letter of intention paving the way for the beginning of works on the above-mentioned investment. PGNiG as a Polish gas supplier and trader with a dominant position in the Polish market, played a vital role in this cooperation scheme as it agreed to send the bulk of its gas exports via the new pipeline.

However, not long after signing the letter of intent PGNiG changed its mind and decided to withdraw from the agreement and, in the process, rendered the whole agreement economically unviable; the other participating parties also abandoned the project.

In its complaint Bartimpex stated that PGNiG's decision clearly breached the Polish Energy Law in which the Third Party Access clause was embedded, thereby imposing an obligation on PGNiG to provide other market players with the means to enter and effectively operate on the markets, in which PGNiG held a dominant position.

The charges brought by Bartimpex were upheld by the OCCP. On 24 December 2002, the President of the OCCP issued a 'cease and desist' order regarding this practice along with a fine of 105.657 PLN (EUR 24.598).³³

Cable TV services sector

On 6 July 2002 the President of the OCCP issued a decision declaring that Aster City Cable TV had abused its dominant position on the relevant market by imposing onerous contract terms on its customers, thereby making an unjustifiably high profit.

Once the investigation was completed charges were brought against the Aster City Cable TV; these covered the lack of formal avenues which the firm's customers could claim damages for not being provided with services (whenever the gap in services providing was shorter than three days); and providing a TV signal of inferior quality.

Aster City Cable TV adjusted its rules in order to comply with the 'cease and desist' order issued by the President of the OCCP.
