TURKEY'S GSP
(Generalized System of Preferences)

May 2002

EXPLANATORY NOTES

Generalised System of Preferences (GSP) aims at contributing to the economic development of developing countries. GSP provides benefits to developing countries by enabling qualified products to enter the markets of preference - giving countries changing rates from duty free to reductions in the MFN rate.

On the other hand, Turkey applied for association with the European Economic Community in 1959, one year after the enforcement of the Treaty of Rome. The Ankara Agreement of 1963 and the Additional Protocol of 1970 are two important documents, which identify modalities and calendars ensuring the future customs union and confirms the ultimate aim of full membership.

The customs union covering industrial products and processed agricultural products which came into force on 1 January 1996 with Decision No 1/95 of The Turkey - EC Association Council was an outcome of these calendars.

Article 16 of Decision No 1/95 of the Association Council states that "With a view to harmonising its commercial policy with that of the EC, Turkey shall align itself progressively with preferential customs regime of the EC within five years as from the date of entry into force of this decision. This alignment will concern both autonomous regimes and preferential agreements with third countries."

Within this context, Turkey initiated a Generalised System of Preferences by harmonising with EC's GSP on 1 January 2002.

BENEFICIARIES

Turkey grants preferential treatment to selected countries and territories which are classified as developing countries in Worldbank statistics in line with EC

Beneficiary countries are announced annually in Annexes of The Import Regime Decree.

PRODUCT COVERAGE

Preferences are granted for selected industrial products. Turkey adapted the GSP system of the EC only for the raw materials and semi-products in which those items account for approximately 2.500 Turkish Customs Tariff Numbers. (12 digit-Turkish Statistical codes based on HS Codes) 2.500 products are approximately 15-20 % of the total Turkish Customs Tariff Number. These products were generally selected from the Chapters 28, 29, 37, 38, 82, 84, 85 and some products from other Chapters as well.

Preferences aren't granted for agricultural products.

DEPTH OF TARIFF CUTS FOR GSP PRODUCTS

Preferences are differentiated according to the sensitivity of the products fully in harmony with the EC's. It is sufficient to differentiate between two product categories, namely non-sensitive and sensitive products for the developing countries.

Tariff duties on non-sensitive products are suspended, while duties on sensitive products are subject to a tariff reduction.

As for the least developed countries, tariff duties are suspended.

Finally, Turkey adopted the same tariff duties with the EC, neither higher nor lower, for GSP products.

Turkey has reserved the right to suspend preferential treatment for GSP products under certain circumstances.

GRADUATION MECHANISM (Country/Sector)

Turkey applied graduation mechanism for concerned list in line with EC's application.

RULES OF ORIGIN UNDER THE TURKISH GSP SCHEME

In the context of Generalised System of Preferences, Turkey has granted tariff preferences to the beneficiary countries as from 1 January 2002 as a result of the customs union between Turkey and the European Community which is based on Association Council Decision No 1/95 between Turkey and the European Community.

The rules of origin are regulated by "Decision on Determination of Origin of Goods Benefiting from Preferential Regime for the Purposes of the Generalised System of Preferences No. 2001/3485" (Hereinafter referred to as "Decision") which is published on the Turkish Official Gazette on 30 December 2001.

The Decision regulates the procedures and principles on determining the origin of goods benefiting from the preferential regime at trade with Turkey for the purposes of the Generalised System of Preferences. The provisions of Decision are in accordance with the ones of the "Commission Regulation No 1602/2000 amending Regulation No. 2454/93 laying down provisions for the implementation of Council Regulation No 2193/92 establishing the Community Customs Code"

- 1- Exporting country must be designated as beneficiary country;
- 2- The product must be eligible for the GSP treatment;

Concerning the origin criteria, goods exported from beneficiary country to Turkey must comply with the requirements of rules of origin if they are to benefit from the preferential tariff treatment provided that they are under the GSP scheme. Goods not complying with the rules of origin requirements will be denied preferential treatment and the normal duty rate will apply to these goods.
