Gender Considerations in Trade Agreements
1. Chile, brief overview

- 26 Trade Agreements
- 86% of the World’s GDP
- 63% of the World’s Population
- 64 countries
- US$69 billion Exports
1. Chile, brief overview
2. Why?

- Trade can open new opportunities for women’s empowerment by opening new markets for their products and by providing formal employment (UNCTAD, 2017)

- Trade policy could be a strategy to increase women economic participation and the achievement of the positive spillovers that this brings, can create opportunities to accomplish this objective (Lopez, 2018).

- Women’s participation in trade can provide openness and sustainability of the economic growth. Economies with better opportunities for women are more competitive. (INTRACEN, 2015)
2. Why?

Participation of women in Chilean exports

In 2017, 343 companies led by women exported around US$982 million. Only 14 of them exported services, representing 0.41% of services exports, around US$4.2 million.

Source: DIRECON-ProChile
3. Gender provisions

Chapters seeks to recognize the importance of incorporating a gender perspective in trade policy, with the objective of ensuring that the benefits of economic growth are shared fairly.

- Develop programs to promote women’s full participation
- Promote financial inclusion and education
- Promote female entrepreneurship
- Conduct gender-based analysis
- Promote gender equality within enterprises
- Advance care policies and programs
- Develop women’s networks
- Conducting gender-based analysis
- Collection of sex-disaggregated data
- Improve women’s access to STEM
3. Gender provisions

- Article N bis-01: General Provisions

1. The Parties acknowledge the importance of incorporating a gender perspective into the promotion of inclusive economic growth, and the key role that gender-responsive policies can play in achieving sustainable socioeconomic development. Inclusive economic growth aims to distribute benefits among the entire population by providing equitable opportunities for the participation of women and men in business, industry and the labour market.

2. The Parties recall Goal 5 of the Sustainable Development Goals in the United Nations 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development, which is to achieve gender equality and empower all women and girls. The Parties reaffirm the importance of promoting gender equality policies and practices, and building the capacity of the Parties in this area, including in non-government sectors, in order to promote equal rights, treatment and opportunity between men and women and the elimination of all forms of discrimination against women.
3. Gender provisions

Feasibility studies → Interministerial Committee → Decision to negotiate

Legal Review → Agreement Conclusion → Negotiation

Agreement Signing → Discussion in the Congress → Approval and Publication

Ministry of Women and Gender Equity
4. Moving forward

- Increase understanding of the gender dimension of trade agreements and their contribution to better policy making.

- Enhance public participation, and raise public awareness.

- Promote gender equity policies alongside trade promotion policies.

- Enhance the work we are doing in cooperation with other Ministries and Services from different areas.

- Gender mainstreaming in international fora has reached a critical moment. Witnessing a transformative moment that could lead to more positive actions.