

Dr. Slavo Radosevic

Professor of Industry and Innovation Studies, University College London, UK

Professor of Innovation Studies at UCL, with research on science, technology, and innovation policy in CEE and emerging economies. He has advised the EC, OECD, UN, and World Bank, and held roles at SPRU Sussex and as federal undersecretary in ex-Yugoslavia. Former EC advisor and DG GROW Fellow.

He has led research and advisory work on technoparks and innovation infrastructure across Central Asia, Eastern Europe, and Southeast Europe. Collaborating with UNCTAD, the EU, and other international bodies, his work focuses on how STI parks support regional development, technology upgrading, and entrepreneurship in emerging economies.

