NOTES

This handbook has been prepared by the UNCTAD secretariat based on the following information:

- Notice no. 11 (2010) of the Customs Tariff Commission of the State Council regarding application of zero duty to imports from least developed countries issued on 1 June 2010.
- Notice no. 15 (2013) of the Customs Tariff Commission of the State Council regarding application of zero duty to imports from least developed countries issued on 17 June 2013.
- Notice no. 32 (2014) of the Customs Tariff Commission of the State Council regarding application of import tariffs in 2015 issued on 12 December 2014.
- Notice no. 95 (2014) of the General Customs Administration regarding the application of import tariffs in 2015.
- Decree of the General Customs Administration no. 210, issued on 1 July 2013: “Administrative rules regarding rules of origin of goods imported from least developed countries under special and preferential duty treatment”.
- Tables of product-specific special and differential tariffs for the least developed countries, published on the website of Shenzhen All Customs Information and Consulting Company.

The original Chinese language versions of these texts are the sole authoritative versions.

This handbook provides a general explanation of the special and preferential tariffs that China grants to least developed countries (LDCs). Its purpose is to allow officials and users responsible for or involved in duty-free, quota-free (DFQF) issues to gain a better understanding of the scheme. It is meant to serve as a general guide and not intended to provide legal advice.

In China, the Ministry of Finance, the Ministry of Commerce and the General Administration of Customs are responsible for the management of the LDC duty-free scheme.

CHECK LIST

CHECKLIST:
HOW TO BENEFIT FROM THE DUTY-FREE SCHEME OF CHINA

Step 1: Check the country coverage

Check if a country falls within the definition of LDCs.

Step 2: Establish the tariff classification of the product

Establish the correct tariff classification (Harmonized System (HS)-based tariff item number) of the product intended for export to China.

Step 3: Check the product coverage

Find out whether your product is eligible for preference under the duty-free scheme of China. To do this, you should examine the product lists of the duty-free scheme in relation to the precise tariff classification and product description.

Step 4: Assess the preferential margin

If your product is eligible for preferential treatment under the duty-free scheme of China, you should assess the preferential margin to determine the price you can offer your buyer/importer.

Step 5: Comply with origin criteria

Ensure that your product complies with the origin criteria set by China.

Step 6: Check consignment conditions

Ensure that the consignment conditions specified are met.

Step 7: Prepare documentary evidence

The duty-free scheme requires the certificate of origin as documentary evidence.

EXPLANATORY NOTES ON THE SPECIAL AND PREFERENTIAL TARIFFS OF CHINA FOR LEAST DEVELOPED COUNTRIES

1. Overview

China started to grant duty-free treatment to LDCs with diplomatic relations with China in 2001. In China's customs tariff schedules (that is, the Customs Tariff of Import and Export of the People's Republic of China), "duty-free" is referred to as "special and preferential tariff treatment for least developed countries" (herein after referred to as the "LDC scheme").

In response to the WTO decision on DFQF for LDC exports adopted at the sixth Ministerial Conference in Hong Kong (China) in December 2005, China announced at the United Nations High-Level Event on Millennium Development Goals held in 2008 that it would increase gradually the coverage of its LDC scheme to reach 95 per cent of the country's total tariff lines. This goal was achieved in two steps within three years between 2010 and 2013. On 1 July 2010, as a first step, duty-free treatment to LDCs applied to 60 per cent of China's import tariff lines (that is, 4,762 out of 7,936 tariff lines). The second step was taken on 1 July 2013 when China granted duty-free to more imported products from LDCs, thus covering 95 per cent of China's total tariff lines, or 7,381 out of 8,243.

As a further step to help boost LDC exports to China, in March 2013 at the BRICS¹ Summit held in South Africa, China announced its decision to increase its duty-free coverage to 97 per cent by 2015. The decision was implemented on 1 January 2015. Thus, China became the first developing country in WTO to fully meet the tariff line coverage requirement set out in the sixth Ministerial Declaration.

According to the latest data released by China to WTO in October 2011, 98.7 per cent of all imports from LDCs, with a value of $42.2 billion in 2010, were covered by the scheme. The enlargement of duty-free coverage to 97 per cent of the tariff lines is expected to benefit the exports of LDCs.

2. Product coverage

The full duty-free treatment to LDCs extends, on an HS eight-digit basis, to 8,036 out of 8,285 tariff lines contained in China's 2015 import tariff schedule, or 97 per cent of China's total import tariffs.

Products covered include those that have actually been exported in recent years, or those that will potentially be exported to China by LDCs, including poultry and other livestock, aquatic products, raw or primary processed agricultural products, minerals, herbs, daily necessities, plastic products, leather, wood, textiles (including cotton yarn), clothing, glass and steel and their products, mechanical and electrical products, furniture, automobiles and other motor vehicles.

Excluded tariff lines mostly concern automobile, paper and timber products. For a comprehensive list of products and the applicable coverage of LDCs, depending on whether they have completed a formal exchange of letters of agreement with China at the relevant stage of implementation, see annex 2.

Products subject to global tariff rate quotas are also excluded from the LDC scheme. Totalling 47 tariff lines at the HS eight-digit level, these include chemical fertilizers, corn, raw cotton, rice, sugar, wheat, wool and wool fiber. In-quota duties range from 1 to 15 per cent, while out-of-quota most-favoured nation duties range from 38 to 65 per cent.

3. Beneficiaries

Forty LDCs having diplomatic relations with China are eligible for the country's special and preferential tariff treatment. For a list of the countries benefiting from the LDC scheme, see annex 1.

Since China phased in the implementation of its LDC scheme in 2010, 2013 and 2015, for their exports to benefit from these preferences, at each phase Governments of the LDCs are required to exchange letters of agreement with the Chinese Government.

As of 1 January 2015, 24 LDCs from Africa have completed an exchange of letters of agreement with China concerning the application of duty-free treatment to 97 per cent of China's import tariff lines. Consequently, these countries now benefit from duty-free treatment for an additional 655 tariff lines compared to the previous 95 per cent level. These LDCs are Afghanistan, Burundi, the Central African Republic, Chad, the Democratic Republic of the Congo, Djibouti, Equatorial Guinea, Ethiopia, Guinea, Guinea-Bissau, Lesotho, Madagascar, Malawi, Mali, Mozambique, Senegal, Sierra Leone, Somalia, South Sudan, the Sudan, Uganda, the United Republic of Tanzania, Vanuatu and Yemen (referred to as LDCs 24 in Annex 2). However, Equatorial Guinea and Vanuatu, having graduated from LDC status in 2013, continued to benefit from the duty-free preferences until 31 December 2015.

Fourteen further LDCs that have not completed, at the time of writing, formalities with the Chinese Government continue to benefit from the second phase of preference coverage, representing 95 per cent of China's import tariff lines. These LDCs are Angola, Benin, Cambodia, the Comoros, Eritrea, Liberia, Myanmar, Nepal, the Niger, Rwanda, Samoa, Timor-Leste, Togo and Zambia (referred to as LDCs 14 in Annex 2). In the absence of exchanges of letters of agreement during the second and third phases, the duty-free coverage is fixed at 60 per cent of China's tariff lines for exporters from Bangladesh and Mauritania (referred to as LDCs 2 in Annex 2).

Exporters from the LDCs that are parties to other preferential trade agreements, including free trade agreements, to which China is signatory can use either the duty-free treatment for LDCs or the duty-free treatment provided to them under these agreements. For example, exporters from Bangladesh and the Lao People's Democratic Republic (referred to as APTA-LDCs in Annex 2), can choose to export products under the Asia-Pacific Trade Agreement under which China applies zero duty on certain products from these two countries. The duty-free coverage China has granted to Bangladesh and the Lao People's Democratic Republic under the Asia-Pacific Trade Agreement is much less than under the LDC scheme. Exporters from the Lao People's Democratic Republic as well as those from Cambodia and Myanmar can also avail themselves of the zero tariff treatment provided by China unilaterally under the China-Association of Southeast Asian Nations Free Trade Agreement. China eliminated some 90 per cent of its tariffs on imports from these three countries as of 1 January 2010, while their commitments were fully implemented on 1 January 2015.

4. Depth of tariff cuts

The preferential tariff rate is zero for all products covered by the LDC scheme.

5. Safeguard clause

There is no safeguard clause in the LDC scheme.

6. Rules of origin

Specific rules of origin apply to products from LDCs eligible for duty-free granted by China, stipulated in the "Administrative rules regarding rules of origin of goods imported from least developed countries under special and preferential duty treatment", which entered into force on 1 July 2010.² Some provisions were amended and entered into force on 1 July 2013 after China extended its duty-free coverage to 95 per cent of its total tariff lines on that date.

For exporters from LDCs that are parties to regional preferential trade agreements involving China, the option exists to apply the rules of origin under these agreements. Consequently, when Cambodia, the Lao People's Democratic Republic and Myanmar export products that are also covered by the China-Association of Southeast Asian Nations Free Trade Agreement, they can opt to apply the rules of origin contained therein. Exporters from Bangladesh and the Lao People's Democratic Republic can opt to apply the rules of origin under the Asia-Pacific Trade Agreement when they export products to China that are also covered by that agreement.

There are two scenarios under which the imported goods directly transported from the beneficiary LDC to China are considered to originate from the beneficiary LDC: (a) when the goods have been wholly obtained or produced in the beneficiary country; (b) when the final substantial transformation has been completed in the beneficiary country.

- (a) The goods are considered to be wholly obtained or produced in the beneficiary country if they fall into one of the following categories:

- (i) Live animals born and raised in the beneficiary country;
 - (ii) Goods obtained from the above live animals;
 - (iii) Plants and plant products harvested, picked or collected in the beneficiary country;
 - (iv) Systems hunted or caught in the beneficiary country;
 - (v) Fish, shells and other marine animals obtained in the offshore waters in accordance with the applicable domestic law of the beneficiary country consistent with relevant international treaties by vessels registered or recorded in the beneficiary country and legitimately flying the flag of the beneficiary country;
 - (vi) Goods obtained from processing the above-mentioned marine animals by processing vessels registered or recorded in the beneficiary country and legitimately flying the flag of the beneficiary country;
 - (vii) Minerals or other natural materials extracted or mined in the beneficiary country or goods other than fish, shells and other marine animals obtained or extracted from the offshore waters, seabed or seabed soil in accordance with the applicable domestic law of the beneficiary country consistent with relevant international treaties;
 - (viii) Used and waste goods generated in the course of consumption in the beneficiary country and collected for recycling purposes;
 - (ix) Waste scraps for recycling purposes generated in the manufacturing process in the beneficiary country;
 - (x) Goods processed with the items mentioned in (i) to (ix).
- (b) There are two sets of rules in determining substantial transformation:
- (i) Product-specific rules of origin:

If goods have not been wholly obtained or produced in the beneficiary country, but meet the product-specific rules issued by the General Customs Administration, they are considered to originate from the beneficiary countries. So far no such rules have been issued.
 - (ii) Unless otherwise specified in the product-specific rules of origin mentioned above, the following applies to determine substantial transformation:

Change of tariff heading

Manufacturing or processing with materials partially or fully originating from non-beneficiary countries leads to a tariff heading change at the four-digit level of the final goods;

Ad valorem percentage

Manufacturing or processing with materials partially or fully originating from non-beneficiary countries leads to a value addition of no less than 40 per cent of the “free-on-board” price of the final goods; thus, in the formula below, an ad valorem percentage of 40 per cent or greater.

The value addition is calculated as follows:

$$\text{Ad valorem (\%)} = (\text{FOB} - \text{CIF}) / \text{FOB} * 100$$

Where:

FOB: Free-on-board price of the final good;

CIF: “Cost of insurance and freight” price of the non-locally originated materials.

- (c) The following minor processing or treatments do not affect the determination of the origin of goods:
- (i) Processing or treatment of the goods to maintain them in good condition during storage or transportation;
 - (ii) Processing or treatment of the goods to facilitate cargo handling;
 - (iii) Packaging, display and other processing or treatment of the goods to facilitate its sale;
 - (iv) Simple dilution, mixing, drying, assembling, sorting or decoration;
 - (v) Slaughter of animals.
- (d) The use of the following items in the production process, which do not constitute ingredients or components of the final goods, do not affect the determination of origin of goods from the beneficiary country:
- (i) Catalysts, energy, fuel and solvents;
 - (ii) Devices, equipment and supplies for testing or inspection of the goods;
 - (iii) Clothing, footwear, glasses, gloves, safety equipment and supplies;
 - (iv) Dyes, moulds and tools;
 - (v) Spare parts and materials for the maintenance of equipment and for plant construction;
 - (vi) Lubricant oil, greases, compounding materials and other materials used in production or used to operate equipment and buildings maintenance;
 - (vii) Any other goods that have been used in the production process but that do not constitute a component of the final goods and their participation in the process of the production of the final goods can be demonstrated.
- (e) It should be noted that in determining the origin of the goods through change of tariff heading, the origins of the packaging and container material as well as the origins of parts, spare parts, tools and use manuals that normally accompany the goods do not affect the determination of the origin of the goods. However, when ad valorem percentage methodology is used to determine the origin of the goods, their prices should be accounted for when calculating the value added percentage.

7. Principle of direct consignment

Goods should be directly transported from the exporting LDC to China to benefit from duty-free. Transit through a third country may be allowed but the goods in transit are subject to the following conditions:

- The goods must not be in trade or commercial circulation;
- Goods must not be modified except for unloading or reloading; temporary storage of goods to keep them in good condition is allowed;
- Goods must remain under customs surveillance.

8. Presentation of documentation upon importation

- (a) The consignee of imported goods or its agent is required to fill in the imports declaration form as specified by Chinese customs, indicating that the goods are entitled to duty-free treatment. In addition, the following documents are required by the Chinese customs:
- (i) A commercial invoice of the goods;
 - (ii) Transport documentation, as follows:
 - Bill of lading issued in the beneficiary country in case of direct transport;
- or

- In the case of transit through a third country, the multi-modal bill of lading issued in the beneficiary country together with relevant documentation demonstrating that no modification has taken place during transit except for unloading, reloading or temporary storage for keeping goods in good condition;
 - (iii) A valid original copy of the certificate of origin and the second copy of the original of the certificate issued by a government-designated authority in the beneficiary country upon exportation or within five days after exportation and sealed by the country's customs. The certificate, written in English, bears a unique number and meets the layout requirement as shown in annex 3. It is composed of one original and three copies of the original. The third and fourth copies of the original are to be kept by the issuing authority and the exporter, respectively. The certificate of origin is valid for one year from the date of issuance.
- (b) If Chinese customs is not convinced by the genuineness of the certificate of origin, it may, directly or through Chinese consulates, verify the certificate of origin with the customs authority or the certificate issuing agency in the beneficiary country. The latter authority/agency should respond within 180 days upon receipt of the request from the Chinese customs; failure to do so will lead to non-application of the duty-free. When necessary, the Chinese customs, upon consent from the competent agency in the beneficiary country, may visit the exporter or producer of the goods in the beneficiary country and carry out on-the-spot audit of the verification process of the responsible agencies in issuing certificates of origin.
- (c) A certificate of origin may be replaced within 12 months upon exportation of the concerned goods, provided either of the following circumstances exists:
- (i) The certificate of origin cannot be issued upon exportation or within five days after exportation due to force majeure;
 - (ii) The certificate of origin issued by the issuing authority in the beneficiary country is rejected upon importation due to inconsistency with other requirements for a valid certificate of origin (for example, inconsistent format, language, numbering, and expiration of the certificate).
- (d) The replaced certificate of origin must be marked as "Replaced" on the certificate. When replacement occurs as indicated in condition (c)(i), above, the new certificate is valid for one year commencing from the date of actual exportation of the goods. A certificate replacement issued as indicated in condition (c)(ii) above is valid for the same period as the previous certificate.

9. Supplementary declaration in case of non-valid certificate of origin

In case the goods imported do not have a valid certificate of origin, a supplementary declaration is required. In this case, the Chinese customs may, upon request from the consignee or the agent of the imported goods, collect a security/deposit equivalent to the amount of the most-favoured nation duty, general duty or duties otherwise applicable.

Refund of the security/deposit can be requested by the consignee or the agent of the imported goods within a year, provided a valid certificate of origin, including the second copy of the original, and other relevant documents requested by the Chinese customs are provided. If the consignee or the agent does not provide the relevant documents within one year, the security/deposit will be taken as duties and taxes related to the import.
