The evolving landscape of digital trade in services

Survey

All questions are required

Digitalization, services trade, and diversification

- How have digitally deliverable services contributed to economic diversification in your country or region?

- In which situations has trade in digitally deliverable services contributed to economic diversification, e.g., through knowledge transfer, online training and education activities or increasing market reach beyond geographical boundaries?

Information and communications technology services as a facilitator of trade in digitally deliverable services

- Please share examples from your country or region on how to improve access to the information and communications technology (ICT) services that enable services digitalization

- Please share practices from your country or region in designing coherent national regulatory frameworks and trade policies in support of ICT services. What has worked, what has not, and why?

Data

- What are the challenges encountered in your country or region in collecting and compiling data on trade in services (including by services sector), digitally deliverable services and mode of supply? How has your country or region overcome these challenges?

- disseminate the latest trends in services trade with a view to identifying opportunities and challenges for developing countries;
 - promote global dialogues on trade, services (including creative services) and development, and promote the sharing of experiences;
 - and identify partnership opportunities to support countries and regions in their efforts to formulate and enact services policies that are in line with their overall development strategies.¹
 - increase knowledge on services-led development strategies by facilitating collaboration between policymakers, researchers and professionals at the local, national, regional and international levels;
 - and facilitate South–South cooperation on services-led development strategies by facilitating collaboration between members from developing economies.
