The UNCTAD DODR Project aims to be the first step toward implementing online dispute resolution (ODR) for consumers in Indonesia and Thailand. It assesses the beneficiaries' needs benchmark international best practices, strengthen local capacities and uses emerging technologies to leapfrog development stages and deliver consumer dispute resolution.

In the framework of the DODR Project, UNCTAD is finalizing a report entitled National Framework for Consumer Complaints handling and Dispute resolution in Indonesia that shows the institutional landscape for complaints handling and consumer dispute resolution in Indonesia. The report highlights the need for a full-fledged national consumer online dispute resolution platform. The full cooperation of various stakeholders, including government ministries as well as non-government consumer and consumer dispute resolution bodies, is crucial for the success of a consumer online dispute resolution platform.
